In a fourteen months for the laying of their statistical bulletin issued today the keels after they were authorized by bureau of fisheries announced the out-marines, and it is also said the private vards are so crowded with work and there has been such a decided increase in the cost of building that it was best for the Navy Department itself to build the two new ships in government navy yards, even though the work could not be commenced until a late date.

"The Secretary of the Navy Department has asked for a special appropriation for more draughtsmen at the Brooklyn and Mare Island navy yards. It is said that it would be possible to lay the keel of the new battleship at Mare Island by July, and at Brooklyn by October. But certain experiments, based on the lessons of the war abroad, are being made, and it is the policy of the department to await the result of the department to await the result of the department to await the result of the experiments before going ahead with the construction of dread, and with the construction of dread, and which will prevail at the conclusion of the present war render it imperative that our naval increase should be made at the earliest possible moment: that it would be better to take the plans of the California class of dreadpaughts and duplicate them rather than delay months in order to strive to make some improvements."

American Members of Ford Party May Be Forced to Cross the North Sea.

THE HAGUE, January 19, via Lon don, January 20, 4:20 a.m .- The Scandinavian members of the Ford peac expedition departed today by special train through Germany for Copenhagen, by permission of the German military authorities. The American members of the expedition who desire to return to Stockholm have not yet received permission to do so and are puzzled as to what they will do. It may be necessary for them to make the trip across the North sea.

Officials, acting on behalf of Henry Officials, acting on behalf of Henry Ford, today expressed disappointment at the refusal of many of the Americans to continue associated with the peace project. Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, the Austrian delegate, and Louis P. Lochner, general secretary of the expedition, tried vainly to induce more of them to go with the expedition to Stockholm, where it is intended to begin sessions in an effort to bring about a termination of the war.
